JURY SAYS THAT MONKS IS GUILTY

Returns Verdict About Three O'clock, Assessing Fine of $25 on Local Chiropractor.

VOTES TWENTY-ONE TIMES

Will Appeal From Decision as Question Has Never Been Before State Supreme Court.

William H. Monks, a local chiropractor, was found guilty on the charge of practicing medicine without a license as charged in the indictment, by the jury in the circuit court this afternoon and assessed the minimum fine of $25 under the law.

The jury was out until shortly before three o'clock and took twenty-one ballots in reaching a verdict. It is understood that at the start the jury stood eight to four for conviction and then changed to eleven to one. On the twenty-first ballot an agreement was reached. The case went to the jury this morning about eleven o'clock. Noah Moore was foreman of the jury.

The defense, it is understood, will appeal the case to the supreme court, as the question regarding the practice of chiropractors has never been determined by the higher court in this state.

The case assumed state-wide importance, especially to the chiropractors, as they have been made defendants in similar cases all over the state and convictions have been very few. The defendants here were backed by the State Association of Chiropractors, and the case was of great importance to the defendant because his right to continue in business depended on the outcome. There are two other similar cases pending against Mr. Monks. If an appeal is taken he will be permitted to do business here until the case is finally settled.

Both sides put forth their best efforts in the closing arguments. Ed. Fitzpatrick, one of the attorneys for Monks, ridiculed William Gort, member of the state medical board, for signing the affidavit against Monks and then not appearing here in court. The attorney for the state poked fun at the defense for maintaining that the chiropractor did no practice medicine.

The court's instructions to the jury contained the usual information as to reasonable doubt and brought the case down to two questions for the jury to decide before a verdict of guilty could be determined. The questions involved were did the defendant have a license or did he engage in the practice of medicine as defined in the statutes of the state?

The instructions quoted the state law and informed the jury the penalty in cases of convictions. The court instructed the jury that it did not constitute a defense if it was shown that persons who received adjustments from the defendant were benefited. One of the instructions that was considered important was as follows:

"The law regulating the practice of medicine enacted by the legislature of the state of Indiana is within the police power of the state and is constitutional and valid. It is within the power of the state legislature to require that all persons who engage in the business of curing or relieving or undertaking to cure and heal or relieve the sick and diseased, should first furnish evidence of these qualifications to do so intelligently and safely, as required by statute and to obtain a license as the statute also requires.

"To constitute the practice of

CALLS ANOTHER MEETING

Pan-American Conference Will Discuss Mexican Problem.

(By United Press.)

Washington, October 14.—Secretary Lansing today called another conference here of the Pan-American Mexican conferees for next Monday afternoon. The conference will decide on the form of recognition to be awarded Carranza and formal proclamation may be made. It was officially announced that all of the Latin-American countries represented in the conference have notified this government of the ratification of the plan to recognize Carranza.

TO DECORATE FOR COUNTY MEETING

Odd Fellows Enter Into Agreement With H. W. Lewis to Leave Steamers on Streets.

TO DECORATE OWN BUILDING

At a meeting Friday night of the decoration committee and the general committee of the organization arranging for the county meeting of Odd Fellows here on Thursday, November 4 with Harry W. Lewis, professional decorator here for the fall festival and horse show, an agreement was entered into whereby Lewis should leave up the street decorations which will be arranged for the festival the week following so that they could serve for the Odd Fellows meeting as well. The committee also reached an agreement whereby the Odd Fellows building should be decorated elaborately at once for the fall festival, the decorations to remain up until after the Odd Fellows meeting.

A committee of Odd Fellows will call on the merchants and ask them to allow their decorations to remain for the Odd Fellows meeting. If such arrangements are made, a five-foot, hand-painted Odd Fellows emblem will be added to each store front decorations.

Word has been received that Manila, Homer and Arlington Odd Fellows will join at the outskirts of the city and enter with a delegation of sixty or seventy automobiles.

PARCEL POST MORE POPULAR

Count First Fifteen Days This Month Reveals an Increase of One-Third in Business.

3,813 PIECES ARE HANDLED

That the merchants and others are finding greater use for the parcel post is demonstrated by the count completed at the postoffice Friday. The parcel post business has increased by one-third in six months, according to a comparison with the last statistics taken in April.

During the first fifteen days of October, which ended last night, 2,895 parcels were received at the Rushville office for delivery in the city and on the rural routes and 918 parcels were mailed on the Rushville rural routes or at the Rushville postoffice to be sent out. This made a total of 3,813 parcels handled in the Rushville office during fifteen days. The combined weight of the parcels shipped from the office was 2,463 pounds, or an average weight per parcel of 2.68 pounds.

MOTOR CAR SHOW IS IN PROSPECT

Fall Festival Committees Arrange For Use of New Place Just Remodeled For a Garage.

MANUFACTURERS INVITED

Meeting Will be Held at Court House Wednesday Night to Make Public Arrangements.

An automobile show in connection with the annual fall festival and horse show week after next is in prospect following a meeting Friday night of several committees to consider further arrangements for the event.

A showing of 1916 models of automobiles was attempted last year but was not the success it should have been because there was no suitable place to house them. However, this year there is an ideal place and for this reason the committees thought it would be wise to attempt a show in connection with the festival and horse show.

The north room of the building formerly used by the John D. Hiner livery barn has been repaired. A cement floor has been installed and a solid wall built through it which separates the north half from the rest of the building. The room is one hundred and sixty-five feet long and forty-eight feet wide. The committee figured that approximately 30 automobiles, with twelve feet space for each one, could be accommodated.

Over a half hundred letters were sent out this morning to automobile manufacturers inviting them to participate in the show and a favorable response is expected from many of them. In this connection, it was suggested and agreed that an automobile parade should be arranged for Friday morning at eleven o'clock, each agent to arrange for as many as possible of the cars he has sold in this county.

The general committee also called a public meeting of all persons interested in the fall festival and horse show at the court house assembly room next Wednesday evening at eight o'clock to discuss plans. It is urged that a big crowd be out for this meeting because at that time will be outlined the program which has been made and what may be expected of the annual event.

The program for the horse show proper has been arranged and the superintendents of the different classes have been named. The showing of horses will begin Tuesday and last until Thursday evening. The Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce is expected on Tuesday and the Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce on Wednesday, although the latter is not certain because no definite word has been received.

The industrial parade will be held Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock. The parade was set at that hour so as to enable school children to take part. It is expected that the schools will be represented by several floats.

The free attractions will be more pretentious than anything ever offered as a free attraction in Rushville. There will be airship flights daily and a big fireworks display each night.

Heretofore the pony show has been held at night so school children could participate, but this year the pony show was changed to Thursday morning because there will be no school on Thursday and Friday of week after next. The schools will be dismissed for the annual meeting of the State Teachers association in Indianapolis.

The marshals for the week will be

PLAN BOND SALE FOR U.S. DEFENSE

Administration Leaders Expect to Sell Quarter of a Billion For Army and Navy Expansion.

TO USE PANAMA CANAL ISSUE

Asserted Tariff Question Will be "Dead as a Mackerel"—National Defense Issue.

(By United Press.)

Washington, Oct. 16.—Sale of a quarter of a billion of government bonds for national defense has practically been decided upon by the administration, it was learned today. They are the $250,000,000 bonds for the Panama canal, authorized but unused. The bonds will be limited to expenditures solely for national defense, toward partial payment of $400,000,000 planned for army and navy expansion. The difference, the president hoped, can be secured from other government revenues.

Revenues are being studied to ascertain whether an additional special bond issue can be avoided.

It is stated authoritatively that Pres. Wilson will stand or fall on his national defense program. It will be the issue of the next presidential campaign. When the president announces his stand on the tariff, it is said, the latter, as a campaign issue, will be "as dead as a mackerel."

The president will make concessions deemed "necessary" in a readjustment of the tariff. Those close to him are stronger daily in the assertion that "revenue is needed and the president will stand ready with an open mind on the tariff to receive suggestions which the present European war renders necessary."

TWO DIVORCE SUITS ARE HEARD TODAY

Judge Sparks Grants Jennie Bigham Decree But Takes Coyne Case Under Advisement.

CASE-MCFARLAND CASE OFF

Two divorce suits were heard by Judge Sparks today following the retirement of the jury in the case of the State against William Monks. Mrs. Jennie Bigham was granted a divorce from Charles Bigham upon payment of the costs. Under the terms of the decree Mrs. Bigham is not to re-marry within a period of two years. She alleges abandonment, stating that he deserted her without cause. The defendant defaulted and Prosecutor Stevens appeared for the state.

The other divorce suit heard was that of Mrs. Lavanche Coyne against Thomas A. Coyne. She also alleged abandonment along with failure to provide. Coyne did not appear against her. Judge Sparks took this case under advisement. Mrs. Coyne asks for the restoration of her maiden name of Lavanche Innis.

The case of Jasper D. Case against Everett McFarland to foreclose a mechanics lien, was dismissed and the costs paid. The plaintiff demanded $1,000.

The women of the Second M. E. church have awarded the shirt waist which they gave away to Mrs. F. M. Sparks.

TRAIN HITS WEAK BRIDGE

Five Persons Are Killed and Many Injured in Kansas Today.

(By United Press.)

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 16.—Five persons, possibly fifteen, were killed and forty injured today when a Union Pacific motor plunged into a weakened bridge over Fancy Creek, near Randolph, Kansas. It is known that thirty-five of the fifty passengers escaped.

The motor got over the bridge but the trailer with the passenger went through. The bridge had been weakened by the swollen creek.

FOLLOWS CLOSELY DEATH OF HIS WIFE

Dr. D. H. VanNuys, Age 79 Years, Native of This County, Expires at Anderson.

CAUSE OF DEATH THE SAME

Following closely upon the death of his wife, Dr. D. H. VanNuys, age seventy-nine years, a native of Rush county and father of Fred VanNuys, Democratic gubernatorial candidate, expired at Anderson Friday night at 10:15 o'clock. Just forty-eight hours elapsed between the death of Mrs. VanNuys and Mr. VanNuys. News of the death of his wife was received here Thursday.

A double funeral will be held at the home in Anderson. The cause of their death was similar, both having succumbed to bronchial pneumonia, and they died at exactly the same hour forty-eight hours apart. Mrs. VanNuys' funeral was to have been held Friday afternoon at two o'clock but was deferred because of the critical condition of husband.

Mr. VanNuys was born in Switzerland county, Indiana, November 27, 1834, and moved to this county early in life. He practiced medicine in the Falmouth neighborhood for over a half century. Fred VanNuys and Dr. F. D. VanNuys of Cincinnati, both sons of the deceased couple, were at his bedside when he died.

NEWMAN CHARGED WITH BURGLARY

Faces Charge in Second Degree For Breaking Into Dr. Smith's Garage.

OTHER BOY STILL AT LARGE

An affidavit charging burglary in the second degree was filed against Bert Newman this afternoon by Prosecutor Stevens and he was expected to be given a hearing late today before Judge Sparks. Newman is held in jail for the robbery of the garage at the home of Dr. Will Smith. His accomplice, Warnie Craig has not yet been located by the police.

Newman told Sheriff Cavitt that his age was seventeen. In this case he is due for a trip to the reformatory at Jeffersonville. He told Prosecutor Stevens that he was willing to plead guilty and in case he does the penalty for second degree burglary is from two to fourteen years. Newman has a brother in the Michigan City prison and a brother in the reform school at Plainfield.

SERBIA IS IN THE LAST DITCH

Little Country Will be Overturned if Allies do Not go to Her Aid Immediately.

TUETONIC NUMBERS TELL

Hurling Troops Against Serbian Defenses and Constantinople May be Reached Soon.

(By United Press.)

Paris, Oct. 16.—Heavily beset on three sides Serbia is making a last ditch fight for her life.

It was conceded here today that help from the allies must reach the little national speedily to be availing. The Serbians claimed to be holding their own against the Bulgarians on the east and the Austrians on the west along the Drina, but it was admitted that the combined German and Austrian drive from the northward was making steady progress through the Moravia valley.

Field Marshal Von Mackensen from all accounts realized the importance of speed as fully as the Serbians appreciated the necessity of delaying the invaders until aid from the allies arrived.

He was reported today hurling his men against the Serbian defenses regardless of losses. These were enormous, said Nish dispatches. Yet the weight of numbers was telling. It was admittedly clear that the invaders would reach Constantinople unless the Serbians were reinforced.

ALLIES ARRIVE IN SMALL NUMBERS

British and French Troops to Aid of Serbia, Which is Making Magnificent Stand.

GERMANS MOVE UP 10 MILES

London, Oct. 16.—Though their plight was desperate the Serbians were still putting up a magnificent resistance today against the Austro-German and Bulgarian invasion. For the first time it became known that British and French troops had arrived though probably in small numbers and were helping the Serbians against the Bulgarians who are trying to destroy the railroad by which

The first attraction of the series of entertainments, that is to be given under the auspices of the Odd Fellow's band, will be the Metropolitan Lyceum Stars. Each member of this company is capable of giving a complete concert, thereby entitling them to the appellation of the Stars. Another feature of this company is the fast, snappy manner in which they present their work. Chas. F. Pratt possesses a very flexible, low baritone voice, with which he thrills his audience during the rendition of his solos. His character work portrays his remarkable dramatic ability, enabling him to move his audience to smiles and tears alternately.

Miss Nellie E. Richeson violinist, graduated from the Cincinnati College of Music, winning many Laurels as well as a free scholarship as a soloist in that institution, and later was at the head of the violin department at the Roanoke Institute, at Danville, Virginia. She has a winning personality that never fails to find favor with her audience.

Miss Mary E. Lindsay is a dramatic contralto and musical reader. She has a full, rich voice, clear and sweet, with a great breadth of tone and wide range. She is a product of Denver, Colorado, and has studied with some of the most eminent teachers in America. Her musical readings have won great favor with her audience.

This can be enjoyed, and four other entertainments, that are just as good, for the small sum of one dollar for adult season tickets.

A Tariff Commission

There has been much said of late about a non-partisan tariff commission and the removal of the tariff question from politics. The latter appears to be the high-flown sayings of dreamers and demagogues who want to begot the real political questions.

It seems preposterous to talk of removing the tariff from politics when the tariff is one of the foremost basic principles that draws a distinct line of demarkation between the Republican and Democratic parties.

But so far as a tariff commission is concerned, it has been asserted in some quarters that the Republican party is opposed to a tariff commission and that it does not even look with favor on the proposal. On the contrary, the Republican party now favors a tariff commission and its record will prove that it has in the past fought for a tariff commission since a demand for that has arisen.

The only question for discussion among Republicans now is whether the commission should be subject to the authority of congress, or at the beck and call of the president, whether it shall be a protection commission or a free trade commission. It can not be both and the pretense that the difference between free trade and protection would not take the question out of politics by any means.

The first tariff commission was organized in 1882, under Arthur's administration. This was not intended as a permanent body, and after considerable investigation and drafting a bill which reflected constructive work of a praiseworthy nature in re-classification of schedules and changes in administering customs, the commission passed quietly out of existence.

Several attempts were later made to provide for a permanent body, the most noteworthy being the bill drafted by the late Seno E. Payne, which passed the House, and went to the Senate, where it was amended in one or two particulars, and passed over the proposition of the Democrats. An effort to get the bill as amended before the House for final passage, failed because of a filibuster conducted it by Mr. Fitzgerald, Democrat, during the expiring hours of the 61st (1911) Congress.

The maximum and minimum clause in the Republican tariff of 1909 authorized the President to employ such persons as might be required "to secure information to assist the President in the discharge of the duties imposed upon him" in ascertaining whether or not any trade discriminations were being made by foreign countries against our exports. The appointments made for this purpose by President Taft were as non-partisan as it is possible to make to any body—three Republicans and two Democrats. It became what was popularly known as the tariff board, and it submitted some very able reports on print paper, crops and farm animals, wool and cotton. The report of the board on wool was characterized by a prominent Austrian economist as being one of the best ever rendered. Although each of these reports was agreed to by the board unanimously nevertheless they were repudiated by the Democrats who, in 1911-12, controlled the lower House. As the Democratic Congress had refused to appropriate money for the maintenance of the board, it went out of existence June 30, 1912.

The Republican platform of 1912 declared for a tariff commission, but the Democratic platform was silent on that subject. Representative Underwood, when a minority member of the ways and means committee, had repeatedly expressed himself, privately, at least, as being in favor of some sort of tariff board which should work in conjunction with Congress. Mr. Underwood said if he ever became chairman of that committee, he would see to it that a tariff statistical bureau of some kind was attached to his committee. But when he became chairman he promptly appointed political favorites to the committee clerkships, and the large hearing room of the committee looked like a female seminary, so numerous were the feminine ex-census clerks brought up there by Daniel Roper, the committee clerk now first assistant postmaster general. In addition to this, Mr. Underwood removed from the assistant clerkship a man who had been there sixteen years. He was considered one of the best, if not the best, tariff statisticians in the United States, but he had no political affiliations and his job was needed by someone who could be of personal use to the chairman. Since the Democrats have been in power, no attempt has been made, and no proposition even considered, for the establishment of a tariff commission. The Democrats do not want one for the reason that if their tariff theory is correct, there is nothing for a tariff commission to do.

Speaking at the banquet of the Home Market club in Boston, William A. Prendergast, comptroller of New York City, said that practical problems were before the people of the United States and that they should not lose sight of them in the next campaign. He declared that it was useless to hope for efficient national government from a party which has a consistent record of failures and foolishness. He laid emphasis on the fact that now is the time for the friends of protection and prosperity to stand together.

First," we feel that such interpretation does injustice to the president's intellect and character. He is so systematically vague in his rhetoric that we prefer to believe that he was talking figuratively when he said: "But I am in a hurry to have an opportunity to have a line-up and let the men who are thinking first of other countries stand on one side and all those who are for America first, last and all the time, on the other side." This kind of a judgement Day, when the sheep will be separated from the goats, will not close the 1916 campaign. No doubt the Democrats will make much of the argument that "the president has kept us out of war," although, as Senator Sherman has aptly remarked, there is no reason why he should have got us into war; but any attempt to claim a monopoly of American patriotism would be rebuked as a piece of monumental impudence.

It would be manifestly unjust. No president in the country's history has been treated more considerably by the opposing party. We cannot recall a Republican newspaper printed in English, which has not stood loyally by the president in his dealing with the European situation. There has been considerable criticism, but it has come from men of foreign birth or sympathies. There have been some Republicans who have insisted on a more vigorous assertion of American rights on the high seas and in Mexico, but the criticism of the president's insistence on what he esteemed American rights has come chiefly from Democratic sources.

In all likelihood the issues of the campaign of 1916 will be domestic. As Mr. Taft has put it, the people have to live, whether there is a war in Europe or not. No doubt the Democrats would be glad to get away from the miserable failure of their domestic policies and run as the only true and original Americans, but a majority of the people of the United States will have something to do with the issues. If the Democrats adopt "America First" as a slogan, the Republicans will call the turn on them. They will demand protection of American industries and labor as a necessary step in the program.

Dr. D. Ira Lambert, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, was a visitor at the Daily Republican office the other day and he brought along his two little girls to give them a glimpse of a print shop. One of the girls displayed unusual interest in the place and asked many questions. The final inspection was in the press room where the big newspaper press was in operation. The little girl got a paper fresh from the press.

"Mother, I got a paper hot from the oven," explained the little girl when she described her experience that evening.

The Liberty Party.

The National anti-slavery sentiment, as a political movement, was reflected in Indiana. Breaking away from those radical abolitionists who would not participate in elections, the national Liberty party was organized in New York in 1839. The party had hard sledding in Indiana in the face of the Harrison frenzy in 1840 and never did put out a state ticket. Its members held meetings and agitated one minute but generally picked those candidates from the other parties who were most nearly in accord with their principles of non-extension of slave territory. In 1848, the Liberty party merged into the "Free Soil Party."

Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. COFFEY MEETS MORAN TUESDAY

Understanding That Winner of This Bout Will Get First Crack at Willard

TWO LEADING CANDIDATES

Jack Dillon is Attracting Attention And May Get Chance at One of Big Guns

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

New York, Oct. 16.—Jim Coffey, the mastodon Irishman, and Frank Moran, who once had dreams of lifting the heavyweight crown from the shiny dome of the late lamented Jack Johnson, are billed to trade wallops for ten rounds here next Tuesday night. Each is going to the fight with the understanding that if he wins he will be the first man to get a crack at Willard.

Early indications point to it being some scrap. The chance to face Willard alone should be incentive enough to make a fairly hectic affair of it, aside from the shekels each will grab off for his end of what bids fair to be a sizable purse.

Coffey has the advantage in size, reach and flat-footedness, Moran has the advantage of cleverness and the experience he gained in mixing it with the European heavyweights, including the aforementioned Johnson. Frank stood up under the attack of the big black for twenty rounds in Paris last year, which, notwithstanding the fact there was a suspicious odor attached to the bout, entitles him to a lot of consideration. It will be the Pittsburgher's first appearance in an American ring for several years.

The only regrettable feature about the battle is its shortness. Take an immovable object and an irresistible force throw them a twenty-four foot ring for thirty minutes, and there isn't going to be a whole lot accomplished. Not that either is an irresistible force or an immovable object—far from it. But both are so big that it will be practically impossible for either to land a sleep kiss in ten rounds, or even get the verge of a knockout, baring lucky wallops.

Coffey and Moran are generally conceded to be the two leading candidates for Willard's scalp, and the winner of the coming mix will be proclaimed about the classiest heavy in these broad United States, with the exception of Willard himself.

Yet there's one fighter who swears he can lick them both if he can get them into the ring with him. Of course, there's a lot of guys willing to swear that, via the press agent route, but this guy stands ready to back it up. The guy is none other than Ernest Cutler Price, otherwise known as Jack Dillon.

Taking it by large, it appears as though the Hoosier Man-Killer has some justification for his claims. These are about the only two heavies worthy of consideration that Dillon hasn't polished off. The only objection to Dillon is that he is too light. But several nights ago over at Johnny Weissmantel's Broadway Sporting Club Dillon, weighing a scant 175 pounds, gave one horrible lacing to Jim Savage, whose pronounced weight was 190, but he weighed over 200 if he weighed an ounce. At the end of 10 rounds, Savage had a broken nose, his face where it wasn't cut to ribbons, was puffed almost beyond recognition, and his body was wracked with pains from the Bearcat's pile-driver punches.

Three times during the first six rounds the referee counted nine over the prostrate form of Savage. Each time the big mountain of flesh lumbered to his feet and hung blindly on till the bell saved him. A lenient referee and an almost unbelievable amount of gameness was all that enabled the big Jerseyite to be on his feet at the final gong. Seldom has a man taken a more severe beating in a New York ring.

Savage, of course, isn't a top-notch man, but he had the advantage of 25 pounds in weight, six inches in reach and about a head in height. And Savage is no slouch at handling his mitts. Yet Dillon floored him three times in 18 minutes, one of the punches lifting Savage with all his 200 pounds clear off his feet. Dillon himself left the ring practically unscathed.

Jack has a fighting heart, the most valuable asset a fighter can have. And that he could practically put away a man of the size and cleverness of Savage makes it look not only possible but entirely probable that he could give either Coffey or Moran one awful battle. His bout with Savage proved that a good little man can whip a mediocre big man.

Dillon is rather unfortunate. He can't make the middleweight limit any more and be strong. And none of the bigger men will meet him, at least none of the comers.

Young Charley Weinert of Newark who is touted as a comer, shied away from a match with Dillon a few days ago. Dillon recently knocked Weinert cold in the second round of a six-round bout at Philadelphia and since that time Charley won't have anything to do with him.

Dillon has a remarkable record. He has never been knocked out, or even been on the brink of it. A peculiar temperament is all that kept him from being a champion long ago, according to a popular belief in pugilistic circles.

Wisconsin Expected to Have Little Trouble Beating Purdue, Hard Game For Wabash

* INDIANA GAMES TODAY *
* Wisconsin vs Purdue at Lafayette. *
* Indiana vs Chicago at Chicago. *
* Butler vs Franklin at Franklin. *
* Earlham vs Rose Poly at Richmond. *
* Wabash vs Washington at Crawfordsville. *

(By United Press.)
Indianapolis, Oct. 16.—Gridiron interest of Hoosierdom was divided today chiefly between Stagg field in Chicago and Stuart Field at Lafayette. Secondary schools had some interesting games scheduled, but the Indiana-Chicago game and the Purdue-Wisconsin games promised to tell Indiana fans just what they might expect this year from their two conference representatives. A defeat would be fatal to the championship hopes.

In secondary circles interest was also strong. Butler and Franklin were scheduled to meet in a real battle. Earlham promised to test the mettle of the Hoosier "dark horse," Rose Poly. Wabash met a worthy rival in Washington University of St. Louis.

MUST WATCH RUSSELL

Chicago, Oct. 16.—With some five hundred crimson rooters demanding a victory once more over Chicago, Indiana took the field this afternoon against the school which has only once bowed in defeat to Hoosiers. Indiana was optimistic while the Maroons were confident.

The old power of the Stagg machine, though it was conceded to be lessened, was found to be still hovering around the Midway when Chicago defeated Northwestern last Saturday 7 to 0. As a team the Maroons appear weak but possess a star in Pete Russell, the fast quarterback. It was this man that the Crimson were told to watch.

The game was expected to be the acid test for the machine of Coach Childs and Thorpe of Indiana. Neither DePauw or Miami games furnished a real test as both games were won by straight football. It was expected that the Indiana coach would today open up all that he had in an effort to repeat the victory of 1910. It appeared that the Hoosiers had the best chance to win of any time in the past five years. The teams looked to be rather evenly matched.

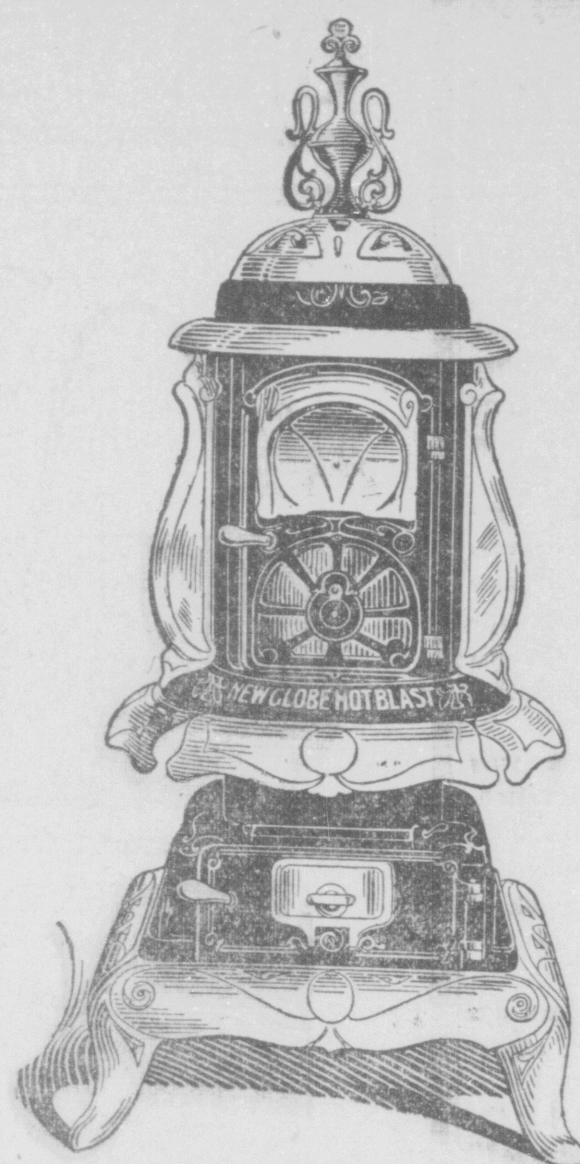

HOME-COMING AT PURDUE

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 16.—Purdue's old grads returned today for the annual home-coming and to see the boiler makers open the conference season against Wisconsin. In spite of the improved showing of the Purdue eleven last Saturday, dope gave Any Smith's protege's but slight chance of victory.

However, the 82 to 0 scores of the Wisconsin team against Lawrence and Marquette, respectively were not taken to indicate more than that Coach Juneau has developed a wonderful scoring machine, Purdue boosters declared. Either game furnished a test of the Badger defensive and that if the team has a vulnerable point it is on the defensive. It was up to Purdue today, they said, to discover this. If the Badgers are weak on defense, and Purdue can manufacture scores fast enough, it is thought that Smith's players had a chance.

ROSE AT EARLHAM

Richmond, Ind., Oct. 16.—Earlham met Rose Poly college on Reid field here this afternoon in the Quaker's first game. On dope, Earlham was picked as the winner. By defeating Hanover 32 to 14 last Saturday, Rose Poly loomed up as a

Franklin, Ind., Oct. 16.—Franklin and Butler played here today. It was the first game for Butler in two weeks while it has the second game for the Baptists. All of Butler's cripples were back in the line-up while Coach Thurber was somewhat handicapped by injured players. This was expected to be a factor in the game. By holding DePauw to a 6 to 2 score on Monday, the Franklin team appeared to be one of the strongest in years. Butler thus far has shown up as a little weaker than last year when Coach Thomas' team took the secondary title.

GERMAN SHELLS GIVES MATERIAL

French Soldiers Make Many Trinkets From the Aluminum and Brass in Them.

RINGS ARE VERY POPULAR

No Limit to "Made in Trenches" Articles—Very Seldom Are They Sold.

BY WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS.
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Eastern France, Sept. 16 (By Mail)—If you need a fad and would like to become a "collector" here is a free suggestion: Start a collection of trinkets made by French troopers on the firing line.

Starting with finger rings in the spring there are a few things the warriors are not making between bayonet charges and dodging big shells. Aluminum, brass, copper and nickel in the German shells hurled at the French, usually are the "raw materials." Bullets, empty shells, shell-clips, coins, buttons, insignia, buckles, belts, hand grenades, also are used.

The most popular curio is the aluminum ring. Scarcely a soldier is without at least one. These are made by cutting off a cross-section of the aluminum fuse-tubing inside German shells and whittling or fling it to desired design. These are numerous and some are of beautiful workmanship, engraved with professional skill. Some of the soldiers are, of course, jewelers.

A popular design is the signet with a crown, cut from the Prussian Guard's brass button, inset. These rings are much sought.

Other are serpents wearing the spiked German helmet, the French War Cross in copper inset, the Cross of Lorraine; the thistle of Alsace, etc.

Ink stands made from hand grenades with crossed cartridges as pen-racks and mounted on a shell fragment are fashioned, while ink-stands made from the time-fuse cap of the famous soixante quinze shells are nifty souvenirs for women at home. Cartridges with the base joined, holding a pencil in one end and a pen in the other and pen-racks made simply of American "special" barbed wire cut from entanglements are quite au fait, as fashion writers at home say.

One of the nicest articles is a breakfast gong made of the brass bases of shells of large calibre. Suspended on a wooden cord, like bells, and tapped, they give forth a very pleasant tone.

Watch fobs are made of leather from German officers' belts with a gold-plated button for fob or a fob made of bronze, brass, nickel or aluminum, any desired shape.

Aeroplane are made of German cartridge-clips with pfennings for wheels. Beer mugs in miniature are made of cartridge shells, and a dandy paperweight is fashioned of shells, and a dandy paperweight is fashioned of shell-fuses or hand grenades with a grape-laden vine growing out of the orifice. The vines are made of telephone wires, the grapes from shrapnel bullets.

From the mud of the trenches soldier-sculptors are making all sorts of statuettes, humorous and serious. The busts of Joffre and Poincare; miniature Venuses and Mercuries, and comic Crown-Princes and Kaisers are favorites.

Dainty picks, shovels, raffles, cannon, and the like are made of brass or other metal. They are polished and finished to a point where any jeweler might handle them with pride.

There is no limit to these "Made in the Trenches" articles. The tools very much as do the objects. Some of the men have pocket-knife. Most, however, have managed to get hold of at least a file and a piece of emery-cloth.

Sometimes, instead of merely filing a section of aluminum the metal is molded after melting. The original rings were made this way: A raw potato was cut in half and a mold of the desired object made. Then the two halves were put together, and the molten metal poured into strange mould through an aperture. From this crude beginning so of the men have developed complicated arrangements whereby two or three metals are combined to form all sorts of patterns, one upon another. The soldier isn't trying to make money with these things. It is rarely he will part with the proofs of his ingenuity. He makes them in his leisure time between battles or watching at loopholes on the lips of the trenches.

The work occupies his mind and the product usually finds its way to wife, sweetheart, mother, father or children. Much devotion, almost life-blood, goes into the trinket, for not infrequently its manufacture is the last act of the soldier before he goes to death.

CARTHAGE IS VICTORIOUS

High School Basketball Team Defeats Pendleton, 26 to 16.

The Carthage high school basketball team defeated the Pendleton high school quintet Friday night at Carthage by the score of 25 to 16. The first half ended 15 to 5 in favor of Carthage and it looked like a walkaway for the Rush county lads. But the visitors displayed better form in the last half and scored 11 points to Carthage's 11. A large crowd attended. Carthage will probably play Moscow next. The Carthage five lined up as follows: Winslow and Hill, forwards; Peirce, center; Linscott and Dyer, guards.

WANTS IT DECLARED A PUBLIC UTILITY

Morristown Board Demands Gas and Oil Company Furnish All Citizens of Town With Gas.

BEFORE SERVICE COMMISSION

A controversy concerning the town of Morristown as a corporation, the residents of the community as citizens of the town and the Citizens' Natural Gas & Oil company of Morristown was given an airing before the Indiana Public Service Commission in a hearing that was held on a petition filed before that body by the town of Morristown demanding that the defendant company be declared a public utility and compelled to furnish gas to citizens generally, as they may desire it and, of course, according to the supply of gas.

Under a franchise granted them some years ago by the town board, the gas company has been using the streets and alleys of Morristown, but they have refused to furnish gas to all who wish it, giving it to some and denying others. The town board takes the position and insists that the company is and should be known as a public utility, and that it should as long as the supply lasts, furnish gas without discrimination.

At the hearing before the Commission, Attorney George H. Meiks, Shelbyville, appeared in behalf of the town and Isaac Carter of Shelbyville represented the company.

WAS REARRESTED AT KNIGHTSTOWN

Calvin Lucas' Suspended Sentence Was Revoked and he Will Have to Serve Term at Farm.

TRIED TO ELUDE OFFICERS

Henry county officials have rearrested at Knightstown Calvin Lucas, who about six months ago was fined $10 and costs and sentenced to ninety days on the Indiana state penal farm, on the charge of grand larceny.

At that time the court suspended the sentence against Lucas on his promise of good behavior and abstinence from intoxicating drinks. However, in the last six months Lucas has been drunk several times, it is alleged, and once paid a fine at Knightstown for intoxication. In view of all this, the court revoked the suspended sentence and ordered him arrested.

When the local officers attempted to arrest him Thursday afternoon, Lucas broke away and ran about four blocks through Knightstown before he was finally caught. He was trying to elude the officers long enough to catch an interurban car to Greenfield. He will be sent to the penal farm at once to serve the ninety-day sentence.

She Will Recover

So her doctor said. Her friends and neighbors felt sure of it too. They have used Peruna themselves and know of its merits. That old cough that had worried her for years and years, for which she had taken all sorts of cough medicines, has disappeared. Peruna is doing the work. She will recover. Indeed, she has recovered.

Her name is Mrs. William Hohmann, 2764 Lincoln Ave., Chicago, Ill. She had suffered with catarrh of the bronchial tubes and had a terrible cough ever since a child. As she got older she grew worse. She coughed both winter and summer. Had to sit up at night. Could not sleep. "But all that has left me now. Peruna has cured me."

GERMAN TRIALS REPULSED

French Defend Trenches North of Reillon in Lorraine.

IS INDICTED FOR WOUNDING HIS WIFE

Robert Davis of Connersville Charged With Assault and Battery With Intent.

ATTACK SPOUSE WITH KNIFE

(By United Press.)

Connersville, Ind., October 16.—Robert Davis, age thirty years, who attacked his wife, Ruth Davis, age nineteen years, with a knife at their home here late Friday afternoon, was indicted by the Fayette county grand jury today and charged with assault and battery with intent to kill. He will be arraigned early next week. Physicians thought today Mrs. Davis would live.

The husband was arrested at Liberty an hour after the attack. At Brownsville men saw him in a railroad box car and the door was slammed shut and bolted. The prisoner was dragged from the car heavily ironed and was returned to this city by Sheriff Hendrickson.

Davis and his wife have been separated. Neighbors assert he went home in an angry mood and loud voices were heard. A few minutes later Mrs. Davis began screaming, and the husband dashed from the house and made his escape, brandishing the knife covered with blood. The woman tottered through the door and fell unconscious on the sidewalk. The wound in her throat extended from ear to ear and her shoulders and back also were slashed. A wound nine inches long and two inches deep was opened just below her right shoulder.

Davis has a police record. He told the officers, it is said, that he was sorry to hear that his wife was yet alive. He will be arraigned tomorrow morning.

CONFERENCE ON PEACE FAVORED

Report of International Committee of Women Declares Warring Nations Favor Action

WANT NEUTRALS TO MEET

Quote Several Important Men But do Not Make Public Their Names—No Decision Yet

(By United Press.)

New York, Oct. 16.—Warring Europe has authorized the leading women of the world to say that it wants a Peace Conference of Neutral Nations if it is led by the United States. Three neutral nations have agreed. Two are considering. The U. S. has not decided.

The authorized official of every nation now at war authorized this statement by the International Congress of Women at The Hague, after an authorized delegate of the congress conferred with him.

These facts are contained in a statement issued here today by The International Committee of Women for Permanent Peace, with a copy of the The Hague Women's Congress.

In their joint report the leading members of those two delegates unite in stating that the evidence and assurances given them have convinced them that the belligerents would not consider such a conference unfriendly, and that the neutrals would not be unwilling to act, if first assured of American co-operation.

The delegates were not at liberty to give names or nationality of the foreign offices specifically quoted, but in several instances they quote verbatim: "My Country would not find anything unfriendly in such action by the neutrals," are the words credited to the Foreign Minister of one great belligerent, "My government would place no obstacle in the way of its institution," said the Minister of an opposing nation. "What are the neutrals waiting for?" said a third, whose name, it is stated ranks high, not only in his own country, but all over the world.

The envoys were received by the following, among others:

Prime Minister Asquith and Foreign Minister Sir Edward Grey, in London; Reichskanzler Von Bethmann-Holweg, and Foreign Minister Von Jagow, in Berlin; Prime Minister Stuerckh, Foreign Minister Burian, in Vienna; Prime Minister Tisza, in Budapest; Prime Minister Salandra and Foreign Minister Sonino, in Rome; Prime Minister Viviani and Foreign Minister Decasse, in Paris; Foreign Minister d'Avignon, in Havre; Foreign Minister Sazonoff, in Petrograd. And by the following representatives of neutral governments:

Prime Minister Cort van der Linden and Foreign Minister London, in The Hague; Prime Minister Zahle and Foreign Minister Seavenius, in Copenhagen; King Haakon, Prime Minister Knudsen, Foreign Minister Ihlen and by Messrs. Loveland, Aarstad Castberg and Jahren, the four presidents of the Storthing in Christiania.

Foreign Minister Wallenberg, in Stockholm; President Motta and Foreign Minister Hoffman, in Bern; President Wilson and Secretary of State Lansing in Washington.

While in Rome, the delegation went un-officially—that is to say, without a mandate from the Congress, to an audience with the Pope and the Cardinal Secretary of State. The International Congress of Women, which met at The Hague last April, appointed two groups of envoys, one to the belligerent governments, and to Holland and Switzerland; the other to Russia and the Scandinavian countries. The reports of those embassies form the basis for the announcement issued today here and in Amsterdam.

The manifesto is signed by Dr. Jacobs, T. Holland; Miss Chrystal MacMillan, of Great Britain; Mme Rosika Schimmer, of Austria-Hungary; Prof. Emily Greene Balch, of Wellesley College, and Miss Jane Addams, of Hull House, Chicago; Dr. Jacobs and Mme. Schimmer,

vice-chairmen

The manifesto says in part: "We heard much the same words spoken in Downing Street as those spoken in Wilhelmstrasse, in Vienna as in Petrograd, in Budapest as in Havre, where the Belgians have their temporary government.

"You are right," said one Minister, "that it would be of the greatest importance to finish the fight by early negotiation rather than by further military efforts, which would result in more and more destruction and irreparable loss. Yours is the sanest proposal that has been brought to this office in the last six months," said the Prime Minister of one of the larger countries.

It has been argued that it is not the time at present to start such a process of negotiation. The answer we bring is that every delay makes more difficult the beginning of negotiations, more nations become involved, and the situation becomes more complicated that when at times in the course of the war such a balance was struck, the neutrals were unprepared to act.

As to the actual situation, however, we quote a remark made to us by a foreign Minister of one of the belligerent Powers. Neither side is today strong enough to dictate terms, and neither side is so weakened that it has to accept humiliating terms."

JURY SAYS THAT MONKS IS GUILTY

medicine within the law, it is not requisite that any drugs or medicine of any kind should be administered or prescribed. And the fact that the defendant did not prescribe or use any drugs would not constitute a defense in this case; neither will the fact, if it be a fact, that the defendant is qualified by education and experience and that his treatments are successful, constitute a defense. The only questions for your determination are: did the defendant engage in the practice of medicine in Rush County, Indiana as defined by statutes within two years prior to the filing of the indictment herein? Did he have a license so to do?"

Rev. F. B. Stearns, who is the pastor of the Cambridge City and Brookville Presbyterian churches, will begin a series of revival meetings at Brookville Sunday. He will be assisted by the Rev. J. Stanley Mitchell, a singing evangelist.

JURY SAYS THAT MONKS IS GUILTY

Returns Verdict About Three O'clock, Assessing Fine of $25 on Local Chiropractor.

VOTES TWENTY-ONE TIMES

Will Appeal From Decision as Question Has Never Been Before State Supreme Court.

William H. Monks, a local chiropractor, was found guilty on the charge of practicing medicine without a license as charged in the indictment, by the jury in the circuit court this afternoon and assessed the minimum fine of $25 under the law.

The jury was out until shortly before three o'clock and took twenty-one ballots in reaching a verdict. It is understood that at the start the jury stood eight to four for conviction and then changed to eleven to one. On the twenty-first ballot an agreement was reached. The case went to the jury this morning about eleven o'clock. Noah Moore was foreman of the jury.

The defense, it is understood, will appeal the case to the supreme court, as the question regarding the practice of chiropractors has never been determined by the higher court in this state.

The case assumed state-wide importance, especially to the chiropractors, as they have been made defendants in similar cases all over the state and convictions have been very few. The defendants here was backed by the State Association of Chiropractors, and the case was of great importance to the defendant because his right to continue in business depended on the outcome. There are two other similar cases pending against Mr. Monks. If an appeal is taken he will be permitted to do business here until the case is finally settled.

Both sides put forth their best efforts in the closing arguments. Ed. Fitzpatrick, one of the attorneys for Monks, ridiculed William Coit, member of the state medical board, for signing the affidavit against Monks and then not appearing here in court. The attorney for the state poked fun at the defense for maintaining that the chiropractor did no practice medicine.

The court's instructions to the jury contained the usual information as to reasonable doubt and brought the case down to two questions for the jury to decide before a verdict of guilty could be determined. The questions involved were did the defendant have a license or did he engage in the practice of medicine as defined in the statutes of the state?

The instructions quoted the state law and informed the jury the penalty in cases of convictions. The court instructed the jury that it did not constitute a defense if it was shown that persons who received adjustments from the defendant were benefited. One of the instructions that was considered important was as follows:

"The law regulating the practice of medicine enacted by the legislature of the state of Indiana is within the police power of the state and is constitutional and valid. It is within the power of the state legislature to require that all persons who engage in the business of curing or relieving the sick and diseased, should first furnish evidence of these qualifications to do so intelligently and safely, as required by statute and to obtain a license as the statute also requires.

CALLS ANOTHER MEETING

Pan-American Conference Will Discuss Mexican Problem.

(By United Press.)

Washington, October 14. — Secretary Lansing today called another conference here of the Pan-American Mexican conferees for next Monday afternoon. The conference will decide on the form of recognition to be awarded Carranza and formal proclamation may be made.

It was officially announced that all of the Latin-American countries represented in the conference have notified this government of the ratification of the plan to recognize Carranza.

TO DECORATE FOR COUNTY MEETING

Odd Fellows Enter Into Agreement With H. W. Lewis to Leave Steamers on Streets.

TO DECORATE OWN BUILDING

At a meeting Friday night of the decoration committee and the general committee of the organization arranging for the county meeting of Odd Fellows here on Thursday, November 4 with Harry W. Lewis, professional decorator here for the fall festival and horse show, an agreement was entered into whereby Lewis should leave up the street decorations which will be arranged for the festival the week following so that they could serve for the Odd Fellows meeting as well. The committee also reached an agreement whereby the Odd Fellows' building should be decorated elaborately at once for the fall festival, the decorations to remain up until after the Odd Fellows meeting.

A committee of Odd Fellows will call on the merchants and ask them to allow their decorations to remain for the Odd Fellows meeting. If such arrangements are made, a five-foot, hand-painted Odd Fellows emblem will be added to each store front decorations.

Word has been received that Manilla, Homer and Arlington Odd Fellows will join at the outskirts of the city and enter with a delegation of sixty or seventy automobiles.

PARCEL POST MORE POPULAR

Count First Fifteen Days This Month Reveals an Increase of One-Third in Business.

3,813 PIECES ARE HANDLED

That the merchants and others are finding greater use for the parcel post is demonstrated by the count completed at the postoffice Friday. The parcel post business has increased by one-third in six months; according to a comparison with the last statistics taken in April.

During the first fifteen days of October, which ended last night, 2,895 parcels were received at the Rushville office for delivery in the city and on the rural routes and 918 parcels were mailed on the Rushville rural routes or at the Rushville postoffice to be sent out. This made a total of 3,813 parcels handled in the Rushville office during fifteen days. The combined weight of the parcels shipped from the office was 2,463 pounds, or an average weight per parcel of 2.68 pounds.

MOTOR CAR SHOW PLAN BOND SALE IS IN PROSPECT FOR U. S. DEFENSE

Fall Festival Committees Arrange For Use of New Place Just Remodeled For a Garage.

MANUFACTURERS INVITED

Meeting Will be Held at Court House Wednesday Night to Make Public Arrangements.

An automobile show in connection with the annual fall festival and horse show week after next is in prospect following a meeting Friday night of several committees to consider further arrangements for the event.

A showing of 1916 models of automobiles was attempted last year but was not the success it should have been because there was no suitable place to house them. However, this year there is an ideal place and for this reason the committees thought it would be wise to attempt a show in connection with the festival and horse show.

The north room of the building formerly used by the John D. Hiner livery barn has been repaired. A cement floor has been installed and a solid wall built through it which separates the north half from the rest of the building. The room is one hundred and sixty-five feet long and forty-eight feet wide. The committee figured that approximately 30 automobiles, with twelve feet space for each one, could be accommodated.

Over a half hundred letters were sent out this morning to automobile manufacturers inviting them to participate in the show and a favorable response is expected from many of them. In this connection, it was suggested and agreed that an automobile parade should be arranged for Friday morning at eleven o'clock, each agent to arrange for as many as possible of the cars he has sold in this county.

The general committee also called a public meeting of all persons interested in the fall festival and horse show at the court house assembly room next Wednesday evening at eight o'clock to discuss plans. It is urged that a big crowd be out for this meeting because at that time will be outlined the program which has been made and what may be expected of the annual event.

The program for the horse show proper has been arranged and the superintendents of the different classes have been named. The showing of horses will begin Tuesday and last until Thursday evening. The Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce is expected on Tuesday and the Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce on Wednesday, although the latter is not certain because no definite word has been received.

The industrial parade will be held Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock. The parade was set at that hour so as to enable school children to take part. It is expected that the schools will be represented by several floats.

The free attractions will be more pretentious than anything ever offered as a free attraction in Rushville. There will be airship flights daily and a big fireworks display each night.

Heretofore the pony show has been held at night so school children could participate, but this year the pony show was changed to Thursday morning because there will be no school on Thursday and Friday of week after next. The schools will be dismissed for the annual meeting of the State Teachers' association in Indianapolis.

The marching band for the week will be

Administration Leaders Expect to Sell Quarter of a Billion For Army and Navy Expansion.

TO USE PANAMA CANAL ISSUE

Asserted. Tariff Question Will be "Dead as a Mackerel"—National Defense Issue.

(By United Press.)

Washington, Oct. 16.—Sale of a quarter of a billion of government bonds for national defense has practically been decided upon by the administration, it was learned today. They are the $250,000,000 bonds for the Panama canal, authorized but unused. The bonds will be limited to expenditures solely for national defense, toward partial payment of $400,000,000 planned for army and navy expansion. The difference, the president hoped, can be secured from other government revenues.

Revenues are being studied to ascertain whether an additional special bond issue can be avoided.

It is stated authoritatively that Pres. Wilson will stand or fall on his national defense program. It will be the issue of the next presidential campaign. When the president announces his stand on the tariff, it is said, the latter, as a campaign issue, will be "as dead as a mackerel."

The president will make concessions deemed "necessary" in a readjustment of the tariff. Those close to him are stronger daily in the assertion that "revenue is needed and the president will stand ready with an open mind on the tariff to receive suggestions which the present European war renders necessary."

TWO DIVORCE SUITS ARE HEARD TODAY

Judge Sparks Grants Jennie Bigham Decree But Takes Coyne Case Under Advisement.

CASE-MCFARLAND CASE OFF

Two divorce suits were heard by Judge Sparks today following the retirement of the jury in the case of the State against William Monks. Mrs. Jennie Bigham was granted a divorce from Charles Bigham upon payment of the costs. Under the terms of the decree Mrs. Bigham is not to re-marry within a period of two years. She alleges abandonment, stating that he deserted her without cause. The defendant defaulted and Prosecutor Stevens appeared for the state.

The other divorce suit heard was that of Mrs. Lavanche Coyne against Thomas A. Coyne. She also alleged abandonment along with failure to provide. Coyne did not appear against her. Judge Sparks took this case under advisement. Mrs. Coyne asks for the restoration of her maiden name of Lavanche Innis.

The case of Jasper D. Case against Everett McFarland to foreclose a mechanics lien, was dismissed and the costs paid. The plaintiff demanded $1,000.

The women of the Second M. E. church have awarded the shirt waist which they gave away to Mrs. M. Sparks.

Five Persons Are Killed and Many Injured in Kansas Today.

(By United Press.)

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 16.—Five persons, possibly fifteen, were killed and forty injured today when a Union Pacific motor plunged into a weakened bridge over Fancy Creek, near Randolph, Kansas. It is known that thirty-five of the fifty passengers escaped.

The motor got over the bridge but the trailer with the passenger went through. The bridge had been weakened by the swollen creek.

FOLLOWS CLOSELY DEATH OF HIS WIFE

Dr. D. H. VanNuys, Age 79 Years, Native of This County, Expires at Anderson.

CAUSE OF DEATH THE SAME

Following closely upon the death of his wife, Dr. D. H. VanNuys, age seventy-nine years, a native of Rush county and father of Fred VanNuys, Democratic gubernatorial candidate, expired at Anderson Friday night at 10:15 o'clock. Just forty-eight hours elapsed between the death of Mrs. VanNuys and Mr. VanNuys. News of the death of his wife was received here Thursday.

A double funeral will be held at the home in Anderson. The cause of their death was similar, both having succumbed to bronchial pneumonia, and they died at exactly the same hour forty-eight hours apart. Mrs. VanNuys' funeral was to have been held Friday afternoon at two o'clock but was deferred because of the critical condition of husband.

Mr. VanNuys was born in Switzerland county, Indiana, November 27, 1834, and moved to this county early in life. He practiced medicine in the Falmouth neighborhood for over a half century. Fred VanNuys and Dr. F. D. VanNuys of Cincinnati, both sons of the deceased couple, were at his bedside when he died.

NEWMAN CHARGED WITH BURGLARY

Faces Charge in Second Degree For Breaking into Dr. Smith's Garage.

OTHER BOY STILL AT LARGE

An affidavit charging burglary in the second degree was filed against Bert Newman this afternoon by Prosecutor Stevens and he was expected to be given a hearing late today before Judge Sparks. Newman is held in jail for the robbery of the garage at the home of Dr. Will Smith. His accomplice, Warner Craig has not yet been located by the police.

Newman told Sheriff Cavitt that his age was seventeen. In this case he is due for a trip to the reformatory at Jeffersonville. He told Prosecutor Stevens that he was willing to plead guilty and in case he does the penalty for second degree burglary is from two to fourteen years. Newman has a brother in the Michigan City prison and a brother in the reform school at Bluffton.

SERBIA IS IN THE LAST DITCH

Little Country Will be Overturned if Allies do Not go to Her Aid Immediately.

TUETONIC NUMBERS TELL

Hurling Troops Against Serbian Defenses and Constantinople May be Reached Soon.

(By United Press.)

Paris, Oct. 16.—Heavily beset on three sides Serbia is making a last ditch fight for her life.

It was conceded here today that help from the allies must reach the little national speedily to be availing. The Serbians claimed to be holding their own against the Bulgarians on the east and the Austrians on the west along the Drina, but it was admitted that the combined German and Austrian drive from the northward was making steady progress through the Moravia valley.

Field Marshal Von Mackensen from all accounts realized the importance of speed as fully as the Serbians appreciated the necessity of delaying the invaders until aid from the allies arrived.

He was reported today hurling his men against the Serbian defenses regardless of losses. These were enormous, said Nish dispatches. Yet the weight of numbers was telling. It was admittedly clear that the invaders would reach Constantinople unless the Serbians were reinforced.

British and French Troops to Aid of Serbia, Which is Making Magnificent Stand.

GERMANS MOVE UP 10 MILES

London, Oct. 16.—Though their plight was desperate the Serbians were still putting up a magnificent resistance today against the Austro-German and Bulgarian invasion. For the first time it became known that British and French troops had arrived though probably in small numbers and were helping the Serbians against the Bulgarians who are trying to destroy the railroad by which

A Tariff Commission

There has been much said of late about a non-partisan tariff commission and the removal of the tariff question from politics. The latter appears to be the high-flown sayings of dreamers and demagogues who want to begot the real political questions.

It seems preposterous to talk of removing the tariff from politics when the tariff is one of the foremost basic principles that draws a distinct line of demarcation between the Republican and Democratic parties.

But so far as a tariff commission is concerned, it has been asserted in some quarters that the Republican party is opposed to a tariff commission and that it does not even look with favor on the proposal. On the contrary, the Republican party now favors a tariff commission and its record will prove that it has in the past fought for a tariff commission since a demand for that has arisen.

The only question for discussion among Republicans now is whether the commission should be subject to the authority of congress, or at the beck and call of the president, whether it shall be a protection commission or a free trade commission. It can not be both and the pretense that the difference between free trade and protection would not take the question out of politics by any means.

The first tariff commission was organized in 1882, under Arthur's administration. This was not intended as a permanent body, and after considerable investigation and drafting a bill which reflected constructive work of a praiseworthy nature in re-classification of schedules and changes in administering customs, the commission passed quietly out of existence.

Several attempts were later made to provide for a permanent body, the most noteworthy being the bill drafted by the late Seno E. Payne, which passed the House, and went to the Senate, where it was amended in one or two particulars, and passed over the proposition of the Democrats. An effort to get the bill as amended before the House for final passage, failed because of a filibuster conducted it by Mr. Fitzgerald, Democrat, during the expiring hours of the 61st (1911) Congress.

The maximum and minimum clause in the Republican tariff of 1909 authorized the President to employ such persons as might be required "to secure information to assist the President in the discharge of the duties imposed upon him" in ascertaining whether or not any trade discriminations were being made by foreign countries against our exports. The appointments made for this purpose by President Taft were as non-partisan as it is possible to make to any body—three Republicans and two Democrats. It became what was popularly known as the tariff board, and it submitted some very able reports on print paper, crops and farm animals, wool and cotton. The report of the board on wool was characterized by a prominent Austrian economist as being one of the best ever rendered. Although each of these reports was agreed to by the board unanimously nevertheless they were repudiated by the Democrats who, in 1911-12, controlled the lower House. As the Democratic Congress had refused to appropriate money for the maintenance of the board, it went out of existence June 30, 1912.

The Republican platform of 1912 declared for a tariff commission, but the Democratic platform was silent on that subject. Representative Underwood, when a minority member of the ways and means committee, had repeatedly expressed himself, privately, at least, as being in favor of some sort of tariff board which should work in conjunction with Congress. Mr. Underwood, since he ever became chairman of that committee, he would see to it that a tariff statistical bureau of some kind was attached to his committee. But when he became chairman he promptly appointed political favorites to the committee clerkships, and the large hearing room of the committee looked like a female seminary, so numerous were the feminine ex-census clerks brought up there by Daniel Roper, the committee clerk now first assistant postmaster general. In addition to this, Mr. Underwood removed from the assistant clerkship a man who had been there sixteen years. He was considered one of the best, if not the best, tariff statisticians in the United States, but he had no political affiliations and his job was needed by someone who could be of personal use to the chairman. Since the Democrats have been in power, no attempt has been made, and no proposition even considered, for the establishment of a tariff commission. The Democrats do not want one for the reason that if their tariff theory is correct, there is nothing for a tariff commission to do.

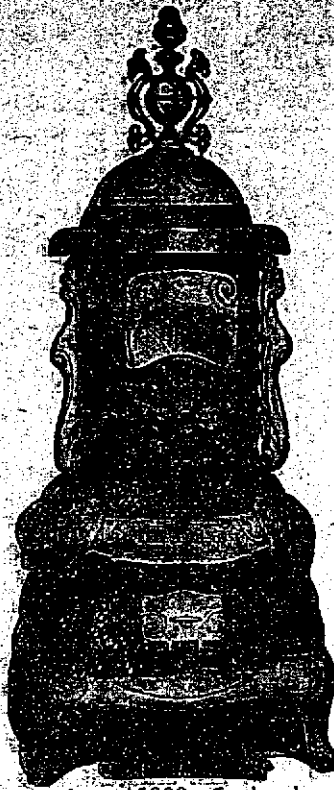

Speaking at the banquet of the Home Market club in Boston, William A. Prendergast, comptroller of New York City, said that practical problems were before the people of the United States and that they should not lose sight of them in the next campaign. He declared that it was useless to hope for efficient national government from a party which has a consistent record of failures and foolishness. He laid emphasis on the fact that now is the time for the friends of protection and prosperity to stand together.

It stands to reason that if any dealer or stove manufacturer could produce a stove that would do the work that the Florence will do they would not only have claimed the $5000, but would have gotten the benefit of letting the people know what a great stove they have. Come and let us show you why and how the FLORENCE burns the smoke and gases that enables you to get steady heat as if you used natural gas.

First," we feel that such interpretation does injustice to the president's intellect and character. He is so systematically vague in his rhetoric that we prefer to believe that he was talking figuratively when he said: "But I am in a hurry to have an opportunity to have a line-up and let the men who are thinking first of other countries stand on one side and all those who are for America first, last and all the time, on the other side." This kind of a judgment Day, when the sheep will be separated from the goats, will not close the 1916 campaign. No doubt the Democrats will make much of the argument that "the president has kept us out of war," although, as Senator Sherman has aptly remarked, there is no reason why he should have got us into war; but any attempt to claim a monopoly of American patriotism would be rebuked as a piece of monumental impudence.

It would be manifestly unjust. No president in the country's history has been treated more considerately by the opposing party. We cannot recall a Republican newspaper printed in English, which has not stood loyally by the president in his dealing with the European situation. There has been considerable criticism, but it has come from men of foreign birth or sympathies. There have been some Republicans who have insisted on a more vigorous assertion of American rights on the high seas and in Mexico, but the criticism of the president's insistence on what he esteemed American rights has come chiefly from Democratic sources.

In all likelihood the issues of the campaign of 1916 will be domestic. As Mr. Taft has put it, the people have to live, whether there is a war in Europe or not. No doubt the Democrats would be glad to get away from the miserable failure of their domestic policies and run as the only true and original Americans, but a majority of the people of the United States will have something to do with the issues. If the Democrats adopt "America First" as a slogan, the Republicans will call the turn on them. They will demand protection of American industries and labor as a necessary step in the program.

Hot From The Stove

Dr. D. Ira Lambert, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, was a visitor at the Daily Republican office the other day and he brought along his two little girls to give them a glimpse of a print shop. One of the girls displayed unusual interest in the place and asked many questions. The final inspection was in the press room where the big newspaper press was in operation. The little girl got a paper fresh from the press.

"Mother, I got a paper hot from the oven," explained the little girl when she described her experience that evening.

HOOSIER HISTORY

The Liberty Party.

The National anti-slavery sentiment, as a political movement, was reflected in Indiana. Breaking away from those radical abolitionists who would not participate in elections, the national Liberty party was organized in New York in 1839. The party had hard sledding in Indiana in the face of the Harrison frenzy in 1840 and never did put out a state ticket. Its members held meetings and agitated one minute but generally picked those candidates from the other parties who were most nearly in accord with their principles of non-extension of slave territory. In 1848, the Liberty party merged into the "Free Soil Party."

Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. COFFEY MEETS MORAN TUESDAY

Understanding That Winner of This Bout Will Get First Crack at Willard

TWO LEADING CANDIDATES

Jack Dillon is Attracting Attention And May Get Chance at One of Big Guns

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
(U. S. Staff Correspondent.)

New York, Oct. 16.—Jim Coffey, the mastodon Irishman, and Frank Moran, who once had dreams of lifting the heavyweight crown from the shiny dome of the late lamented Jack Johnson, are billed to trade wallops for ten rounds here next Tuesday night. Each is going to the fight with the understanding that if he wins he will be the first man to get a crack at Willard.

Early indications point to it being some scrap. The chance to face Willard alone should be incentive enough to make a fairly hectic affair of it, aside from the shekels each will grab off for his end of what bids fair to be a sizable purse.

Coffey has the advantage in size, reach and flat-footedness, Moran has the advantage of cleverness and the experience he gained in mixing it with the European heavyweights, including the aforementioned Johnson. Frank stood up under the attack of the big black for twenty rounds in Paris last year, which, notwithstanding the fact there was a suspicious odor attached to the bout, entitles him to a lot of consideration. It will be the Pittsburgher's first appearance in an American ring for several years.

The only regrettable feature about the battle is its shortness. Take an immovable object and an irresistible force throw them a twenty-four foot ring for thirty minutes, and there isn't going to be a whole lot accomplished. Not that either is an irresistible force or an immovable object—far from it. But both are so big that it will be practically impossible for either to land a sleep kiss in ten rounds, or even get the verge of a knockout, barring lucky wallops.

Coffey and Moran are generally conceded to be the two leading candidates for Willard's scalp, and the winner of the coming mix will be proclaimed about the classiest heavy in these broad United States, with the exception of Willard himself.

Yet there's one fighter who swears he can lick them both if he can get them into the ring with him. Of course, there's a lot of guys willing to swear that, via the press agent route, but this guy stands ready to back it up. The guy is none other than Ernest Catter Price, otherwise known as Jack Dillon.

Taking it by large, it appears as though the Hoosier Man-Killer has some justification for his claims. These are about the only two heavies worthy of consideration that Dillon hasn't polished off. The only objection to Dillon is that he is too light. But several nights ago, over at Johnny Weissmanell's Broadway Sporting Club, Dillon, weighing a scant 175 pounds, gave one horrible lacing to Jim Savage, whose pronounced weight was 190, but he weighed over 200 if he weighed an ounce. At the end of 10 rounds, Savage had a broken nose, his face where it wasn't cut to ribbons, was puffed almost beyond recognition, and his body was wracked with pains from the Bearcat's pile-driver punches.

Three times during the first six rounds the referee counted nine over the prostrate form of Savage. Each time the big mountain of flesh lumbered to his feet and hung blindly on till the bell saved him. A lenient referee and an almost unbelievable amount of gameness was all that enabled the big Jerseyite to be on his feet at the final gong. Seldom has a man taken a more severe beating in a New York ring.

Savage, of course, isn't a top-notch man, but he had the advantage of 25 pounds in weight, six inches in reach and about a head in height. And Savage is no slouch at handling his mitts. Yet Dillon floored him three times in 18 minutes, one of the punches lifting Savage with all his 200 pounds clear off his feet. Dillon himself left the ring practically unscathed.

Jack has a fighting heart, the most valuable asset a fighter can have. And that he could practically put away a man of the size and cleverness of Savage makes it look not only possible but entirely probable that he could give either Coffey or Moran one awful battle. His bout with Savage proved that a good little man can whip a mediocre big man.

Dillon is rather unfortunate. He can't make the middleweight limit any more and be strong. And none of the bigger men will meet him, at least none of the comers.

Young Charley Weinert of Newark who is touted as a comer, shied away from a match with Dillon a few days ago. Dillon recently knocked Weinert cold in the second round of a six-round bout at Philadelphia and since that time Charley won't have anything to do with him.

Dillon has a remarkable record. He has never been knocked out, or even been on the brink of it. A peculiar temperament is all that kept him from being a champion long ago, according to a popular belief in pugilistic circles.

- * Wabash vs Washington at Crawfordsville.

(By United Press.) Indianapolis, Oct. 16.—Gridiron interest of Hoosierdom was divided today chiefly between Stagg field in Chicago and Stuart Field at Lafayette. Secondary schools had some interesting games scheduled, but the Indiana-Chicago game and the Purdue-Wisconsin games promised to tell Indiana fans just what they might expect this year from their two conference representatives. A defeat would be fatal to the championship hopes.

In secondary circles interest was also strong. Butler and Franklin were scheduled to meet in a real battle. Earlham promised to test the mettle of the Hoosier "dark horse." Rose Poly. Wabash met a worthy rival in Washington University of St. Louis.

MUST WATCH RUSSELL

Chicago, Oct. 16.—With some five hundred crimson rooters demanding a victory once more over Chicago, Indiana took the field this afternoon against the school which has only once bowed in defeat to Hoosiers. Indiana was optimistic while the Maroons were confident.

The old power of the Stagg machine, though it was conceded to be lessened, was found to be still hovering around the Midway when Chicago defeated Northwestern last Saturday 7 to 0. As a team the Maroons appear weak but possess a star in Pete Russell, the fast quarterback. It was this man that the Crimsons were told to watch.

The game was expected to be the acid test for the machine of Coach Childs and Thorpe of Indiana. Neither DePauw or Miami games furnished a real test as both games were won by straight football. It was expected that the Indiana coach would today open up all that he had in an effort to repeat the victory of 1910. It appeared that the Hoosiers had the best chance to win of any time in the past five years. The teams looked to be rather evenly matched.

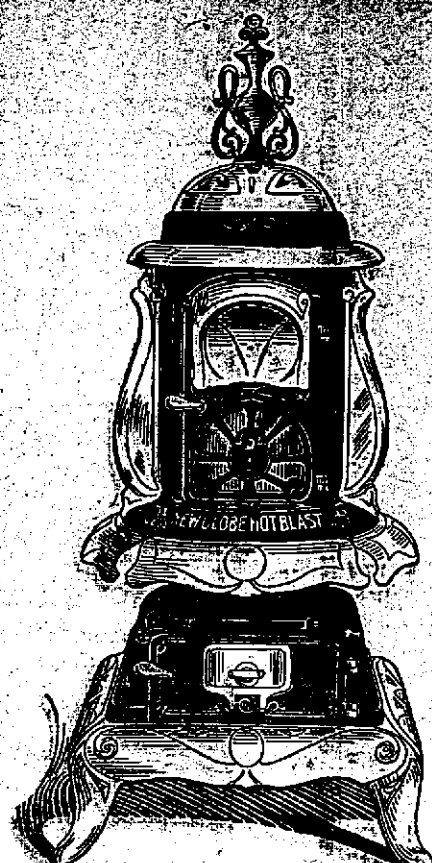

HOME-COMING AT PURDUE

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 16.—Purdue's old grads returned today for the annual home-coming and to see the boiler makers open the conference season against Wisconsin. In spite of the improved showing of the Purdue eleven last Saturday, dope gave Any Smith's proteges but slight chance of victory.

However, the 82 to 0 scores of the Wisconsin team against Lawrence and Marquette, respectively were not taken to indicate more than that Coach Juneau has developed a wonderful scoring machine, Purdue boosters declared. Either game furnished a test of the Badger defensive and that if the team has a vulnerable point it is on the defensive. It was up to Purdue today, they said, to discover this. If the Badgers are weak on defense, and Purdue can manufacture scores fast enough, it is thought that Smith's players had a chance.

ROSE AT EARLHAM

Richmond, Ind., Oct. 16.—Earlham met Rose Poly college on Reid field here this afternoon in the Quaker's first game. On dope Earlham was picked as the winner. By defeating Hanover 32 to 14 last Saturday, Rose Poly loomed up as a

Here Tomorrow—Held Marion Club Last Sunday.

GAME CALLED AT 2:30 O'CLOCK

The Rushville football team faces one of the hardest games of the season tomorrow when it tackles the Greenfield team. The Greenfield team last Sunday held the Marion club team of Indianapolis to a scoreless tie and the fans here say this indicates that Rushville will have to go some to hold the Greenfield team.

The locals have been working out every night this week and the team is in good condition for the game tomorrow. One week from tomorrow the Wilkinson team will be the attraction. The Greenfield team to-morrow will be accompanied by a delegation of rooters, and as the football season is now on in full blast a large crowd is expected. The game will start at 2:30 o'clock.

WIRELESS PHONE INVENTOR TALKS

J. McCarty, Dreamer of Dreams That Come True, Discusses Possibility of New Idea.

POSSIBILITIES OF FUTURE

Some Day, he Says, Tom Jones Can Sit in New York and Talk to His Friend in Tokio.

"Hello! San Francisco Bureau of the United Press?"

"Yes."

"Well, this is the New York office; Red Letter Editor speaking."

"Why, how-do-you-do New York. What's on your mind?"

"We want a story, quick, about Carty, inventor of the wireless telephone that carries voices from Washington to Hawaii."

"I'll mail it tomorrow."

"Fine. Goodbye, San Fran."

"Goodbye, New York."

NOTE—The above assignment actually was given by phone from New York to San Francisco, over the lines of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company. And here's the story:

BY C. D. GROAT.
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)
San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 11.—J. J. Carty, A. T. & T. chief engineer, dreamer of dreams that come true, (he perfected the wireless phone through which Washington officials recently talked 5000 miles from the Capitol to Hawaii, and with which the human voice may some day circle the globe you know), was in San Francisco the day the Red Letter Editor phoned his assignment to me from New York.

Accordingly, I found Mr. Carty and he told me something of his dreams for wireless telephony.

Some day, he opined, Bill Smith may sit in his office in New York, Chicago, Seattle or San Francisco, ring up across the continent on the wire and be connected with the wireless telephone to Tokyo.

From New York, that is about 3,000 miles.

But, Bill Smith won't be able to use a wireless telephone to talk to Tom Jones down in another office building in the same town. The wireless isn't meant for that, and it won't supplant the telephone or the wireless telegraph.

The little man with the black hair, just tingling with gray; and the sharp black eyes peering out from under shaggy eyebrows, sat in the temporary office of the A. T. & T. Co., here and discuss his dream of talking across the continent and thence to Hawaii, which has just come true.

He personally had made wireless telegraphy a commercial possibility, but it was of his company that he spoke—scarcely ever, "I."

"We don't expect that there'll be such a thing as carrying a pocket phone around and connecting up with anybody anywhere in the world," he said.

"What we do expect, though, is that the wireless telephone will be available for ships, and particularly for small craft, so that one may talk to the other or to the shore."

"It is easier to talk wirelessly over water than over land, and while we have talked across the continent, we think the practical outcome will be that the man, say in New York, will talk across the continent by wire and be connected with the wireless. I think it will be possible for him in this way to talk to Tokyo."

The real development we expect, however, to be on ships.

"You see it's very easy to talk across country now," he said pointing up a connection between the United Press offices in New York and San Francisco for the correspondent. It was very easy. Just like talking through an open door to a man in the hallway.

That, however, will be stretched out so that it spans lands and the oceans. The feat accomplished in talking from New York to San Francisco and Hawaii, he pointed out, makes it a certainty that one may talk to Europe.

There are three main reasons, as Carty explained, why wireless telephony cannot come into general use; that is, supplant the usual commercial telephone.

First, a great roar that spreads through the ether and transfers to the wireless set; second, the lack of secrecy; and third, the inability to spread so many communications on one "line" as can be done with the wire system.

The roar, he expects will be overcome to some extent. He has found he can hear clearly in talking to New York, but there are static interruptions. He is now working to smooth out this difficulty also on completing the system of response.

On his original tests there was transmission in only one direction, but Carty is now working out both sending and receiving instruments.

Carty has other big ideas back of those keen black eyes. But he isn't telling them.

"You know, Mr. Vail's orders are to do it and talk about it afterwards," he said.

"What do you think will be the next great achievement in science?" he was asked.

"I wonder," he mused, "Science has made great steps, hasn't it?"

ORDERED OUT OF THE CITY

Ben Williams, Colored, is Given Choice of Two Things.

Ben Williams, colored, was given the choice of two things—leaving the city or go to jail for eleven days—this morning in police court and it didn't take him long to reach a decision that he should leave Nashville. He was arrested yesterday for intoxication. Williams gave the police here a lot of trouble back in 1912 and after spending about a year in jail was run out of the city. He came back this summer and got along fine until yesterday. Mayor Bebout decided that the city would be better off without him, and Williams agreed with the mayor.

ONE CENT A MEAL FOR 1 YEAR

In almost every home there are practically one thousand meals a year prepared on the stove. Many people hesitate about paying five or ten dollars more to secure a reliable range—one that will cook these thousands meals a year with the least trouble and at the lowest cost. If you should add just one cent to the cost of every meal for the first year only, you would soon make up the difference between the cheap range and the range that will last a lifetime.

Suppose your cheap range uses one cent's more of fuel in cooking each meal, or only three cents' worth more a day. In one year this range has cost you ten dollars extra—ten dollars more for fuel than the better range. Every year means that much more money burned up.

Suppose the better range does cost ten dollars more at first than the cheap one. The extra cost is nothing—it amounts to only one cent a meal. It will save that one cent a meal in fuel alone. In one year it will save the extra cost and in ten years it will save you one hundred dollars not counting what you save missing big repair bills.

You can open a bank account in your kitchen by buying a SOUTH BEND MALLEABLE RANGE.

An expert demonstrator from the factory will be at our store for one week. He will tell you about the Patented Aluminum-Fused Copper-Bearing Flues. And prove to you why it is the best range made.

JURIST SOLVES SERVANT PROBLEM

Judge Kavanaugh Believes he Has The Secret—Should be Given Consideration

NOT TREATED AS A MENIAL

(By United Press.)
Chicago, Oct. 16.—Here's the latest solution of the servant problem. It is offered by Judge Marcus Kavanaugh, Chicago's noted jurist, who believes he has found a way to make servants happy.

Don't treat your servant as a menial. That is Judge Kavanaugh's secret and he further declares that lack of consideration by the average American housewife is driving countless numbers of women who would make good cooks or house maids into the ranks of the fallen women.

"In other countries," said Kavanaugh, "the domestic is respected and to become one does not mean a loss of caste. But here, the average housewife expects a servant to be continually at her beck and call, treating her as an inferior."

"By making the occupation of domestic more attractive, the jurist believes thousands of women now employed at work in which they are inefficient would take up the more natural and suitable line of endeavor."

The Commercial Night School begins Monday evening at the Graham building at seven o'clock. Come and talk the matter over even if you have not decided to go to work the first evening.

Storm Buggies that Will Keep You Warm, Look Nice and Wear Well. That's the Kind.

Everybody wants a nice storm buggy and I have one for everybody. Some of my competitors are going to quit selling buggies, or at least they advertise they are, and I am going to take their word for it, and just between ourselves, I have been looking for it for sometime, and I have reason for looking for it. Every year I sell more buggies than I did the year before and there is not much room left for competition. You naturally ask the question "How do you increase your buggy business all the time?" and the answer is that I give more buggy value for the money than anyone else, treat everybody alike and treat them right. I can prove I give more value for the money than my competitors as I am handling a storm buggy this winter, formally sold by one of my competitors, and I am selling it for $10.00 less than it ever sold for before, remember the same buggy for $10.00 less. Maybe you bought one last year and paid the extra $10.00. If you did, remember when you need a buggy look around. It has saved lots of vehicle buyers money to buy them of me, and I want you for a customer. The only way you can sell things right is to buy them right, and not throwing any bouquets at myself, I sure buy right and I want to give you the advantage of good buying. Good buying, and a large volume of business make it possible for me to sell you a buggy from $10.00 to $15.00 cheaper than any one else. It is a simple proposition to figure out how it is done, and when you get ready to buy a buggy, buy where the majority buy, and save.

FAST GAME EXPECTED

Franklin, Ind., Oct. 16.—Franklin and Butler played here today. It was the first game for Butler in two weeks while it has the second game for the Baptists. All of Butler's cripples were back in the line-up while Coach Thurber was somewhat handicapped by injured players. This was expected to be a factor in the game. By holding DePanw to a 6 to 2 score on Monday, the Franklin team appeared to be one of the strongest in years. Butler, thus far has shown up as a little weaker than last year when Coach Thomas' team took the secondary title.

GERMAN SHELLS GIVES MATERIAL

French Soldiers Make Many Trinkets From the Aluminum and Brass in Them.

RINGS ARE VERY POPULAR

No Limit to "Made in Trenches" Articles—Very Seldom Are They Sold

BY WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS.
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Eastern France, Sept. 16 (By Mail)—If you need a fad and would like to become a "collector" here is a free suggestion: Start a collection of trinkets made by French troopers on the firing line.

Starting with finger rings in the spring there are a few things the warriors are not making between bayonet charges and dodging big shells. Aluminum, brass, copper and nickel in the German shells buried at the French, usually are the "raw materials." Bullets, empty shells, shell-clips, coins, buttons, insignia, buckles, belts, hand grenades, also are used.

The most popular curio is the aluminum ring. Scarcely a soldier is without at least one. These are made by cutting off a cross-section of the aluminum fuse-tubing inside German shells and whittling or fling it to desired design. These are numerous and some are of beautiful workmanship, engraved with professional skill. Some of the soldiers are, of course, jewelers.

A popular design is the signet with a crown, cut from the Prussian Guard's brass button, inset. These rings are much sought.

Other are serpents wearing the spiked German helmet, the French War Cross in copper inset, the Cross of Lorraine; the thistle of Alsace, etc.

Ink stands made from hand grenades with crossed cartridges as pen-racks and mounted on a shell fragment are fashioned, while ink-stands made from the time-fuse cap of the famous soixante quinze shells are nifty souvenirs for women at home. Cartridges with the bases joined, holding a pencil in one end and a pen in the other and pen-racks made simply of American "special" barbed wire cut from entanglements are quite au fait, as fashion writers at home say.

One of the nicest articles is a breakfast gong made of the brass bases of shells of large calibre. Suspended on a woolen cord, like bells, and tapped, they give forth a very pleasant tone.

Watch fobs are made of leather from German officers' belts with a gold-plated button for fob or a fob made of bronze, brass, nickel or aluminum, any desired shape.

Aeroplane are made of German cartridge-clips with pennings for wheels. Beer mugs in miniature are made of cartridge shells, and a dandy paperweight is fashioned of shells, and a dandy paperweight is fashioned of shell-fuses or hand grenades with a grape-laden vine growing out of the orifices. The vines are made of telephone wires, the grapes from shrapnel bullets.

From the mud of the trenches soldier-sculptors are making all sorts of statuettes, humorous and serious. The busts of Joffre and Poincare; miniature Venuses and Mercuries, and comic Crown-Princes and Kaisers are favorites.

Dainty picks, shovels, rifles, cannon, and the like are made, of brass or other metal. They are polished and finished to a point where any jeweler might handle them with pride.

There is no limit to these "Made in the Trenches" articles. The tools very much as do the objects. Some of the men have pocket-knives. Most, however, have managed to get hold of at least a file and a piece of emery cloth.

Sometimes, instead of merely filing a section of aluminum the metal is molded after molding. The original rings were made this way: A raw potato was cut in half and a mold of the desired object made. Then the two halves were put together and the molten metal poured into a strange mould through an aperture. From this crude beginning, of the men have developed complicated arrangements whereby two or three metals are combined to form all sorts of patterns, one upon another.

The soldier isn't trying to make money with these things. It is rarely he will part with the proofs of his ingenuity. He makes them in his leisure time between battles or watching at loopholes on the lips of the trenches.

The work occupies his mind and the product usually finds its way to wife, sweetheart, mother, father or children. Much devotion, almost life-blood, goes into the trinket, for not infrequently its manufacture is the last act of the soldier before he goes to death.

High School Basketball Team Defeats Pendleton, 26 to 16.

The Carthage high school basketball team defeated the Pendleton high school quintet Friday night at Carthage by the score of 26 to 16. The first half ended 15 to 5 in favor of Carthage and it looked like a walkaway for the Rush county lads. But the visitors displayed better form in the last half and scored 11 points to Carthage's 11. A large crowd attended. Carthage will probably play Moscow next. The Carthage five lined up as follows: Winslow and Hill, forwards; Pearce, center; Linseott and Dyer, guards.

WANTS IT DECLARED A PUBLIC UTILITY

Morristown Board Demands Gas and Oil Company Furnish All Citizens of Town With Gas.

BEFORE SERVICE COMMISSION

A controversy concerning the town of Morristown as a corporation, the residents of the community as citizens of the town and the Citizens' Natural Gas & Oil company of Morristown was given an airing before the Indiana Public Service Commission in a hearing that was held on a petition filed before that body by the town of Morristown demanding that the defendant company be declared a public utility and compelled to furnish gas to citizens generally, as they may desire it and, of course, according to the supply of gas.

Under a franchise granted them some years ago by the town board, the gas company has been using the streets and alleys of Morristown, but they have refused to furnish gas to all who wish it, giving it to some and denying others. The town board takes the position and insists that the company is and should be known as a public utility, and that it should as long as the supply lasts, furnish gas without discrimination.

At the hearing before the Commission, Attorney George H. Meiks, Shelbyville, appeared in behalf of the town and Isaac Carter of Shelbyville represented the company.

WAS REARRESTED AT KNIGHTSTOWN

Calvin Lucas' Suspended Sentence Was Revoked and he Will Have to Serve Term at Farm.

TRIED TO ELUDE OFFICERS

Henry county officials have rearrested at Knightstown Calvin Lucas, who about six months ago was fined $10 and costs and sentenced to ninety days on the Indiana state penal farm, on the charge of grand larceny.

At that time the court suspended the sentence against Lucas on his promise of good behavior and abstinence from intoxicating drinks. However, in the last six months Lucas has been drunk several times, it is alleged, and once paid a fine at Knightstown for intoxication. In view of all this, the court revoked the suspended sentence and ordered him arrested.

When the local officers attempted to arrest him Thursday afternoon, Lucas broke away and ran about four blocks through Knightstown before he was finally caught. He was trying to elude the officers long enough to catch an interurban car to Greenfield. He will be sent to the penal farm at once, to serve the ninety-day sentence.

After a terrific bombardment of the French lines in the Lange district, it was said, the Germans charged this front at midnight but were repulsed here also.

IS INDICTED FOR WOUNDING HIS WIFE

Robert Davis of Connorsville Charged With Assault and Battery With Intent.

ATTACK SPOUSE WITH KNIFE

(By United Press.)

Connorsville, Ind., October 16.—Robert Davis, age thirty years, who attacked his wife, Ruth Davis, age nineteen years, with a knife at their home here late Friday afternoon, was indicted by the Fayette county grand jury today and charged with assault and battery with intent to kill. He will be arraigned early next week. Physicians thought today Mrs. Davis would live.

The husband was arrested at Liberty an hour after the attack. At Brownsville men saw him in a railroad box car and the door was slammed shut and bolted. The prisoner was dragged from the car heavily ironed and was returned to this city by Sheriff Hendrickson.

Davis and his wife have been separated. Neighbors assert he went home in an angry mood and loud voices were heard. A few minutes later Mrs. Davis began screaming, and the husband dashed from the house and made his escape, brandishing the knife covered with blood. The woman tottered through the door and fell unconscious on the sidewalk. The wound in her throat extended from ear to ear and her shoulders and back also were slashed. A wound nine inches long and two inches deep was opened just below her right shoulder.

Davis has a police record. He told the officers, it is said, that he was sorry to hear that his wife was yet alive. He will be arraigned tomorrow morning.

CONFERENCE ON PEACE FAVORED

Report of International Committee of Women Declares Warring Nations Favor Action

WANT NEUTRALS TO MEET

Quote Several Important Men But do Not Make Public Their Names—No Decision Yet

(By United Press.)

New York, Oct. 16.—Warring Europe has authorized the leading women of the world to say that it wants a Peace Conference of Neutral Nations if it is led by the United States. Three neutral nations have agreed. Two are considering. The U. S. has not decided.

The authorized official of every nation now at war authorized this statement by the International Congress of Women at The Hague, after an authorized delegate of the congress conferred with him.

These facts are contained in a statement issued here today by The International Committee of Women for Permanent Peace, with a copy of the The Hague Women's Congress.

In their joint report the leading members of those two delegates unite in stating that the evidence and assurances given them have convinced them that the belligerents would not consider such a conference unfriendly, and that the neutrals would not be unwilling to act, if first assured of American co-operation.

The delegates were not at liberty to give names or nationality of the foreign offices specifically quoted, but in several instances they quote verbatim: "My Country would not find anything unfriendly in such action by the neutrals," are the words credited to the Foreign Minister of one great belligerent. "My government would place no obstacle in the way of its institution," said the Minister of an opposing nation. "What are the neutrals waiting for?" said a third, whose name, it is stated ranks high, not only in his own country, but all over the world.

The envoys were received by the following, among others:

Prime Minister Asquith and Foreign Minister Sir Edward Grey, in London; Reichskanzler Von Bethmann-Holweg, and Foreign Minister Von Jagow, in Berlin; Prime Minister Stuerghk, Foreign Minister Burian, in Vienna; Prime Minister Tisza, in Budapest; Prime Minister Salandra and Foreign Minister Sonnino, in Rome; Prime Minister Viviani and Foreign Minister Decasse, in Paris; Foreign Minister d'Aragon, in Havre; Foreign Minister Sazonoff, in Petrograd. And by the following representatives of neutral governments:

Prime Minister Cort van der Linden and Foreign Minister London, in The Hague; Prime Minister Zaho and Foreign Minister Scavenius, in Copenhagen; King Hakan, Prime Minister Knudsen, Foreign Minister Ihlen and by Messrs. Loveland, Aarstad Castberg and Jahren, the four presidents of the Storthing in Christiania.

Foreign Minister Wallenberg, in Stockholm; President Motta and Foreign Minister Hoffman, in Bern; President Wilson and Secretary of State Lansing in Washington.

While in Rome, the delegation went un-officially—that is to say, without a mandate from the Congress, to an audience with the Pope and the Cardinal Secretary of State.

The International Congress of Women, which met at The Hague last April, appointed two groups of envoys, one to the belligerent governments, and to Holland and Switzerland; the other to Russia and the Scandinavian countries. The reports of those embassies form the basis for the announcement issued today here and in Amsterdam.

The manifesto is signed by Dr. Jacobs, T. Holland; Miss Chrystal MacMillan, of Great Britain; Mme. Rosika Schwimmer, of Austria-Hungary; Prof. Emily Greene Balch, of Wellesley College; and Miss Jane Addams, of Hull House, Chicago; Dr. Jacobs and Mme. Schwimmer.

The manifesto says in part: "We have heard much the same words spoken in Downing Street as those spoken in Wilhelmstrasse, in Vienna as in Petrograd, in Budapest as in Havre, where the Belgians have their temporary government."

"You are right," said one Minister, "that it would be of the greatest importance to finish the fight by early negotiation rather than by further military efforts, which would result in more and more destruction and irreparable loss. Yours is the sanest proposal that has been brought to this office in the last six months," said the Prime Minister of one of the larger countries.

It has been argued that it is not the time at present to start such a process of negotiation. The answer we bring is that every delay makes more difficult the beginning of negotiations, more nations become involved, and the situation becomes more complicated that when at times in the course of the war such a balance was struck, the neutrals were unprepared to act.

As to the actual situation, however, we quote a remark made to us by a foreign Minister of one of the belligerent Powers. Neither side is today strong enough to dictate terms, and neither side is so weak that it has to accept humiliating terms."

JURY SAYS THAT MONKS IS GUILTY

medicine within the law, it is not requisite that any drugs or medicine of any kind should be administered or prescribed. And the fact that the defendant did not prescribe or use any drugs would not constitute a defense in this case; neither will the fact, if it be a fact, that the defendant is qualified by education and experience and that his treatments are successful, constitute a defense. The only questions for your determination are: did the defendant engage in the practice of medicine in Rush County, Indiana as defined by statutes within two years prior to the filing of the indictment herein? Did he have a license so to do?"

Rev. F. B. Stearns, who is the pastor of the Cambridge City and Brookville Presbyterian churches, will begin a series of revival meetings at Brookville Sunday. He will be assisted by the Rev. J. Stanley Mitchell, a singing evangelist.
